

RELATIVES TALKING CIRCLE

Boozhoo & Hau

The Student Counseling Office and Native American Student Success (NASS) would like to invite you to the Relatives Talking Circle. The purpose of this circle is to create a safe environment for Native/Indigenous students to express and discuss different cultural ways of knowing, good medicine, and the healing of historical and inter-generational traumas in a confidential space. It is of utmost importance that we are able to build a sense of community with one another.

Contact Brianca Smith-Austin M.A.: Brianca@morris.umn.edu and/or Colter Combellick MSW, LICSW: combe007@morris.umn.edu if you are interested in joining this group.

NASS programs and functions are supported wholly or in part by the Native American Serving Non Tribal Institutions grant funded by the US Department of Education. Information can be found at z.umn.edu/morrisnass
